BREAKING: New Twist: Charlie Hebdo Police Investigator Turns Up Dead, 'Suicided'

21st Century Wire says...

As French authorities close in on the two fleeing suspects turned hostage-takers, skepticism is building around reports which indicated a vast dossier for each suspect, and how security services allowed the alleged suspects to roam free, plan and stage Wednesday's violent incident at Charlie Hebdo Magazine in Paris.

Going by the official narrative, which says that the two prime suspects announced by French police, brothers Cherif and Said Kouachi were also responsible for Wednesday's attack, it seems as if the two 'terrorists' were being closely monitored and tracked by both French and US security services prior to the event...

HOSTAGE SIEGE: 'CTD' Building located in the town of Dammartin en Goele, just northeast of Paris.

The Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) mouthpiece, Foreign Policy Magazine admitted as much on Thursday, stating:

"French Interior Minister Bernard Cazeneuve said Thursday that the suspects were "probably followed" prior to the shooting and that there apparently was no sign of an impending attack, according to Le Figaro. Indeed, both Cherif Kouachi, 32, and Said Kouachi, 34, were previously known to the authorities. Cherif was convicted by a French court in 2008 of trying to
